

ALEXIOS MOORE

634 Franklin Ave. 3B
Brooklyn, NY 11238
917.690.4931

alexiosmoore.com
alexiosm@gmail.com

EDUCATION

Master of Fine Arts in Creative Non-Fiction, New School University 2007

Bachelor of Liberal Arts, Eugene Lang College 1997
Concentration: Writing
Dean's List
Albert A List Scholarship

Study Abroad, University College Dublin 1995

Graduate Coursework in Education
Classroom Management
Adolescent Literature
Human Development
Special Education Policy
Curriculum Development

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Adjunct Faculty, Eugene Lang College, NY June 2008— Present
First-Year Writing Program

Writing the Essay I: Culture and the Critical Eye
Introduction to academic essay writing with a focus on visual art, film and music criticism.

Writing the Essay II: Cults, Communes and Collectives
Introduction to research-based writing with a focus on utopian studies and group psychology.

Reading the Graphic Novel
Introduction to literary and art criticism with a focus on sequential art and the graphic novel.

Adjunct Faculty, College of New Rochelle, NY Sept. 2005— Present
Department of Letters

Teaching the Essay as Experience
Library as a Research Tool
Language, Thought and Critical Analysis
Introduction to the Research Paper

Critical Writing Instructor, SEO Scholars, NY January 2008— Present
Instruct Critical Writing and Reading courses with college preparatory program for urban students of color.

Contributing Editor, H.O.W. Journal, NY January 2009— Present
Review and edit prose submissions for a biannual literary journal and non-profit dedicated to raising funds for programs that serve young people living with HIV.

Freelance Curriculum Developer, NY January 2005— Present
Developed student-centered, multi-disciplinary elementary, secondary and professional development curricula on literacy, urban ecology and urban design for a diverse range of clients.

Associate Director of School Programs, Center for the Urban Environment June 2007— July 2008
Supervised a staff of thirty educators and oversaw curriculum development, program delivery, teacher training, and grant reporting for educational non-profit and DOE vendor that brought hands-on urban ecology and design programming into hundreds of NYC schools annually.

- Education Manager, Children's Aid Society, NY July 2005— June 2007
 Managed academic component of Carrera Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention Program, a national, multi-site, holistic, after-school program.
 Hired, supervised, and trained a staff of forty educators.
 Designed and implemented curriculum and data collection system for over 600 program participants.
- Education Coordinator, Children's Aid Society, NY October 2002— July 2005
 Designed academic programming for 100 participant cohort of the Carrera Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention Program in the Lower East Side.
 Trained and supervised a staff of four teachers and two tutors.
- Teaching Artist, Teachers and Writers Collaborative, NY September 1999— May 2005
 Developed and delivered creative writing curriculum to special education students in self-contained classrooms.
- English Teacher, NYC Department of Education September 1997— Aug. 2002
 Taught literature and writing at El Puente, Automotive and Fort Hamilton high schools.
 Designed project-based, integrated arts curricula, coordinated summer internships,
 and edited student newspaper.

PUBLICATIONS AND HONORS

Sidestreets, Princeton Review (literacy curriculum)
The Leftover Man, Pindelyboz 7 (non-fiction)
 Hunters and Gatherers, H.O.W. (non-fiction)
 Albee Fellowship in Creative Writing
 WorkSpace Resident, LMCC

EXHIBITIONS AND WORKSHOPS

Field Studies, Lower Manhattan Cultural Council
 (multimedia installation)
 Longing and Belonging, Hunter College
 (memoir workshop)

REFERENCES

Dr. Michael Carrera
 Executive Director
 Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention Program, CAS
 212.876.9716
michaelc@childrensaidsociety.org

Robin Mookerjee
 Director, Writing Program
 Eugene Lang College
 212.229.5100 x2256
mookerjr@newschool.edu

Dr. Elena Bront De Avila
 Chair, Letters
 College of New Rochelle
 718.665.1310 x6732
ebdeavila@cnr.edu

Amanda Eyrych-Daly
 Director of Education
 Center for Urban Environment
 347.524.5880
amandaedaly@gmail.com